

PRESS RELEASE

July 2008

On behalf of:
Templestone

Templestone: Setting Standards High

Templestone provide truly original, custom made fire surrounds and interior features.

The owner of the property breathed a sigh of relief when Templestone produced this beautiful Gothic Hoveton surround. Templestone were called in to produce this, and another surround, to replace some ghastly 1970s surrounds that had been put in by the previous owner. This Gothic Hoveton is traditionally hand carved from Bathstone with slate hearths.

The house was built by an architect as his own home with superb gothic features including vaulted ceilings over the stairwell and some beautiful doorways (right image). Its easy to see how this surround compliments such features wonderfully.

The images above are one of numerous bespoke surrounds that Templestone have designed and fitted over many years.

'Natural stone is one of maybe only two things in nature (the other being wood) that with good design, traditional skills and true craftsmanship can actually be enhanced and glorified for our continual pleasure', says Steven Daniels, MD of Templestone.

All surrounds and interior features are produced by Templestone's skilled masons working with traditional tools in their workshops in Castle Cary, Somerset. Visitors are most welcome to come and see them working during the week.

ENDS

Visit the online IMAGE LIBRARY to download these images and more at www.atommpr.com or contact Jayna Makwana